NICHE OVERVIEW

Once again I am here to introduce you to a hot niche market and 'hack' it wide open so you can make money from it.

This particular niche is brewing up major interest and you can have the customers pouring in just by tapping into this niche.

This niche market is Sign Language a relatively new and booming niche.

Sign Language: A system of communication using visual gestures and signs, as used by deaf people.

INTRODUCTION

A sign language (also signed language or simply signing) is a language which uses manual communication and body language to convey meaning, as opposed to acoustically conveyed sound patterns. This can involve simultaneously combining hand shapes, orientation and movement of the hands, arms or body, and facial expressions to fluidly express a speaker's thoughts. They share many similarities with spoken languages (sometimes called "oral languages", which depend primarily on sound), which is why linguists consider both to be natural languages, but there are also some significant differences between signed and spoken languages.

Wherever communities of deaf people exist, sign languages have been developed. Signing is not only used by the deaf, it is also used by people who can hear, but cannot physically speak. While they use space for grammar in a way that spoken languages do not, sign languages show the same linguistic properties and use the same language faculty as do spoken languages. Hundreds of sign languages are in use around the world and are at the cores of local deaf cultures. Some sign languages have obtained some form of legal recognition, while others have no status at all.

A common misconception is that all sign languages are the same worldwide or that sign language is international. Aside from the pidgin International Sign, each country generally has its own, native sign language, and some have more than one, though sign languages may share similarities to each other, whether in the same country or another one.

It is not clear how many sign languages there are. The 2013 edition of Ethnologue lists 137 sign languages.

MARKET SIZE & WORTH

- American Sign Language is the primary language of an estimated 100,000 to 500,000 Americans
- In America only 90,000 college students study Sign Language
- 70 million only deaf people from all over the world take part in this industry.

More detailed information:

Trends have been seen that not only deaf people but normal people are also learning Sign Language to get better salaries.

In May 2013, translators and interpreters across all fields, including ASL and foreign language translators and interpreters, earned an average annual income of $47,920, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) reports (www.bls.gov). Elementary and high schools, medical facilities, and local government agencies were among the largest employers of interpreters.

Earnings as an ASL interpreter largely depend on one's level of experience and place of work. In May 2013, the BLS reported that the highest paid interpreters and translators worked for engineering services, office administrative services, and the federal government. Translators and interpreters working in engineering and related services earned an annual average income of $97,940, and interpreters and translators in elementary and high schools earned an average annual income of $40,620, per the BLS in 2013.
