Day 2

Hey,

I hope you've enjoyed the free report. I spent a lot of time on that to make sure you were really getting a lot of value out of it.

Now, here is a secret you may not know. Girls want to be on the edge. They want you to be unpredictable and spontaneous.

Being predictable and doing the same things in the relationship will cause a woman to lose interest in you and end up cheating on you or ending the relationship all together.

But, if you're unpredictable and exciting you can get a woman to do almost anything you want.

She will realize that you're one of a kind and irreplaceable. Think about it. Most guys are too lazy to shake things up with their woman and spice up the relationship. After a couple months they think that they've done enough in the beginning and now they can "chill". Are you kidding me?

If you "chill" your girlfriend is going to get bored of the relationship and call it quits. So, I found something that will show you how you can be unpredictable and spontaneous without coming off as weird or seem like you're trying too hard.

Master this one thing and you will have the secret upper hand on your woman :)

Check that out, I know you'll love it. And let me know what you think after you do!

I tried being more spontaneous and unpredictable in my own relationship and guess what happened?

My girlfriend can't get enough of me. It's like my relationship just got a jumpstart.

Talk soon,

-[your name]

PS- Make sure to look out for the next email I send you... I'm going to let you in on another secret that will make your girl literally beg you to put a ring on it.....assuming that you want to put a ring on it haha!

Catch you soon!

Day 5

The point of this email is to show your subscribers that you know what you're talking about and that they should trust your advice. You can send them a short article, video, or mp3 recording. This will help build your relationship with your subscribers and show them that you want to help them.

Be creative and stand out from other marketers! Don't pitch any products in this email just give away valuable info for free. Hopefully, you chose a niche that you are familiar with so you can just freestyle some content, but if not, you can do some quick research and write an article or make a video about what you learned.
